Flames Crackled Around.

His Brave Rescuers Dashed In

All the Other Tenants Had Fled in Their Nightclothes.

A fire occurred early this morning the five-story tenement, 307 East Ninety-third street, in which a young man was rescued just in time to save his life.

The blaze was in the rooms of Mrs. Emilie Bloch, a widow, who lives on the top floor with her ninteen-year-old son Jacob and daughter Pauline, who is seventeen. Jacob is steward on a steamship, and came home a few days ago. Ten families live in the house.

Miss Bloch herself was the innocent came near being burned to death. She has been troubled with toothache for some time, and couldn't sleep last night on account of it. on account of it.

She got up shortly before 2 A. M. to get some toothache drops, and while looking for the drops in her bedroom, next to the kitchen, she accidentally dropped a lamp, which was smashed on the foor.

Every one was afraid to fix the wire for fear it was "loaded," as an onlooker said, and for several hours it terrified all forced to go near it. Street-car drivers were forced to jump their cars from the track.

The wire was put in place late last night by a man wearing rubber hoots, rubber gloves and a look of defiance on his face.

PAUL GETS FOUR YEAR?

The Forger of Judge Glegerich's Name Gets Off Easy.

Charles W. Paul, formerly of the County Clerk's office, who yesterday pleaded guilty to the charge of having pleaded guilty to the charge of having forged the name of Juriz Giegerich, of the Common Pieus Court, to negotiable paper, and ansins whom there is another indication for forgery in the second decree and one for Brand larceny in the first decree, was see teneed this magning by Judge Cowing, in Part I., General Bessions Court, to State prison for four years. The maximum penalty for forgery in the second degree is ten years. Had all three charges been pressed against Paul and conviction follows he might have been sentenced to thirty years.

The male department of grammar school No. 47, at Eighty-slath street and First avenue, held their exercises this afternoon. Trustee J. Flizpatrick presided. This school has a larger number of graduates this year than any other in the city, graduating one hundered and four in both departments.

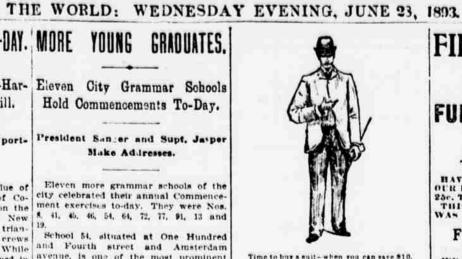

They have sent some excellent exhibits to the World's Fair, and have more ready to be sent. There are very good modellings in clay and wax, among which the most noticeable are three life-like portraits of President Cleveland, Gov. Roswell P. Flower and Mayor Thomas Gilrov. These were modelled by two boys, each fourteen years old, Emil Hartman and Frederick Plesbach.

The Principal of the school is Edward A. Page. He was visited to-day by Prof. Scott, of the College of the City of New York, and Commissioners O'Brien and Guggenheimer. President Adolph Sanger, of the Board of Education, presented the diplomas. The salutatory address was delivered by William H. Casselman, The graduates in both departments are:
